Working with Families Impacted by a Parental Addictive Disorder Diagnosis

2 hr. virtual session - Select either
February 2nd from 1-3 pm EST or
April 5th from 1-3 pm EDT

This session is part of a series on working with families experiencing parental mental health diagnoses and can be taken in any order.

When parents suffer from mental illness, the entire family is impacted. This training explores the effect on children when their parents have an Addictive Disorder mental health diagnosis (gambling will be excluded). Participants will also engage in an exercise to help them have greater empathy for parents who struggle with Addictive Disorders. This training offers practical recommendations on how to facilitate support and change for parents who may struggle with their symptoms. Participants will also develop informal action plans to assist them in their own professional work with families.

This intermediate-level training is designed to support caseworkers, social workers, counselors, psychologists, and other helping professionals who are working alongside families impacted by a parental diagnosis of Addictive Disorder. This informative session will include didactic lecture, as well as group interaction, personal reflection, and a time for Q & A.

Participants will be able to:

- Describe at least 5 key effects an Addictive Disorder may have on a parent's ability to parent
- Identify at least 3 core strategies to work more effectively with families impacted by a parental diagnosis of an Addictive Disorder
- Develop an action plan to assist them in their work with families impacted by a parental diagnosis of an Addictive Disorder
